CHINESE DIES OF INJURY IN RIOT

Luna Worthington
Contradicts Police.

Denies He Had Revolver.
Rawlins Holding Inquest.

Deputy Sheriff Rawlins arrived from Waipahu at 2:30 this morning. He states that as far as can be learned the facts are as stated in yesterday's Advertiser. Dr. Judd performed an autopsy on the dead Chinese. The bullet that killed him penetrated the abdomen. The Deputy states that arrests will be made shortly. The dead man is said to have stated to plantation policeman McDuffie that he was shot by a man on horseback. None of the police were mounted. The police did fire several shots. A coroner's jury was impaneled and the inquest will be held Wednesday.

As a result of the battle between six Honolulu policemen and three hundred Chinese at Oahu Sugar Co.'s plantation, Waipahu, on Saturday night, one Chinese died yesterday afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff W. T. Rawlins went down on hearing of the death, to hold a coroner's inquest and such other investigation as might be deemed proper. He was expected back at midnight, but had not arrived until 2 o'clock this morning.

If any others of the Chinese were shot in the fusillade, no information of the fact could be had at the police station. Those on duty there disclaimed any knowledge of particulars, referring the reporter to the Deputy Sheriff when he should return.

Officer Frank Kanae, reported in yesterday's paper as injured, is confined to his home in a semi-dazed condition. Dr. Judd took two stitches in a wound in the policeman's head. Kanae's father is the police captain who commanded the posse that engaged the Chinese gamblers.

Luna Worthington, whom the police accused of inciting the disturbance, yesterday evening handed a letter into the Advertiser office, in which he emphatically denies the accusation and makes a counter charge of reckless shooting against the police. His letter appears below.

LUNA WORTHINGTON'S STORY.

Editor Advertiser: On the front page of this morning's issue of your paper appeared an article headed, "Police-men Attacked—Waipahu Mob Assaults Officers—One Is Hurt," in the course of which it is stated that, "According to the story repeated to High Sheriff Henry by his officers last night one Worthington, a head luna on the plantation, is guilty of inciting the Chinese to attack the policemen and liberate the prisoners. An investigation will be made at once and if the facts are as stated a warrant will be issued for the luna." And again: "According to the story of the police the luna, Worthington, in inciting the Chinese to attack the officers fired his revolver three times in the air as a signal for the assault."

CENTLY, BEING "SHADOWED" BY DETECTIVES.

As I am the luna, Worthington, to whom reference is made in the article above referred to, I desire that you give equal publicity to the following statement:

The statements that I was guilty of inciting the Chinese to attack the policemen and liberate the prisoners and that in inciting the Chinese to attack the officers I fired my revolver in the air three times as a signal for the assault are absolutely false.

My sole purpose in going to the scene of the trouble was to give bail for the men who had been arrested for gambling, and this at the request of a Chinese camp luna who, I understand, had requested the Deputy Sheriff to wait at the camp until bail could be secured. All I did when I arrived there was to demand the authority of the officers for making the arrests, and while there the police started indiscriminate shooting. I fired no shots, had no revolver or other weapon with me and was absolutely unarmed.

I trust that the fullest investigation will be made of an occurrence which resulted unfortunately for the High Sheriff's department in the grievous wounding—possibly by this time, death—of one of the Chinese employed by the Oahu Sugar Co.

MR. WADMAN ELEVATES THE CROSS OF CHRIST

Great Revival Meeting in Central Union With Overflow in Methodist Church—Deep Religious Interest.

Revival spirit ran high at the great mass meeting in Central Union Church last night. The big church was packed with people and many had to seek the overflow meeting in the First Methodist Church. The first part of the service consisted of songs and the audience sang with an enthusiasm perhaps never equaled here before. A large part of the audience was made up of young people, students from the various preparatory schools being much in evidence. Several of the hymns were sung, one verse by the choir, one by the congregation in the main auditorium, and another by the people in the gallery. This plan added greatly to the effect of the music.

After the song service Rev. Mr. Miliken of Waimea, Kauai, was introduced and read the scriptures. After a hymn he offered prayer. During the offertory Stanley Livingston sang a solo. Dr. Kincaid then introduced Rev. John W. Wadman of the First Methodist Church. Mr. Wadman made a powerful address, one of the best that has been heard from a Honolulu pulpit. His theme was the power of the Cross of Christ, and he made a masterly plea to the people to get out from the hazy conceptions of Christianity that theologians have evolved and back to the Cross of Christ and the simple facts of Christian doctrine.

Speaking of the Cross, he said: "What is the Cross of Christ? We have fashioned it in gold and hung it in air from the steeples of our churches and lifted it above our domes; we have stamped it on the Morocco covers of Bibles held in daintily gloved hands; it has hung at the throat of thoughtless beauty—yet somehow we go back to our sins just the same. We go to the grand sacred oratorios—we listen to the music of the songs, but we forget the Christ. The Apostles did not sneer at about theology—they preached the Cross of Christ. Theologians have hidden the meaning of the Cross in mystery. Hundreds of millions of troubled and weary human souls have lifted their eyes to Calvary's Cross and found peace."

Following Mr. Wadman's address Mrs. Edward Damon spoke impressively, telling of her Christian experience and urging others to seek the light. After the singing of a hymn, Dr. Kincaid pronounced the benediction.

OTHER MEETINGS.

An overflow meeting in the First Methodist church last night was well attended and proved very helpful. Four young men raised their hands and asked for prayers. Mr. Ryder of the Kakaako Mission led the services and Mr. W. A. Bowen made a brief address. There was a song service. A union meeting of the Japanese churches was also held last night. A union young people's meeting was held in the Christian Church and the young people marched to the Central Union service singing.

MEETINGS THIS WEEK.

Services are to be continued this week as last. There will be services Tuesday. Wednesday will be a day of prayer. There will be services in the Methodist Church at 10 a. m., the Christian Church at 3:30 p. m., and the Central Union Church at 7:30 p. m. There will be a woman's meeting on Thursday and family prayer meetings in the evening. Further announcements will be made later.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S LANDING AT TANGIER

TANGIER, March 31.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Hamburg, with the German Emperor on board, arrived here today from Lisbon. The Emperor was awaited at the landing by the representatives of the Sultan, the diplomatic corps and a big crowd of people. A heavy sea was running when the Hamburg anchored and the Emperor sent his grand chamberlain ashore to apologize for the fact that he must delay landing owing to the rough weather, and saying that he probably would land later. This announcement caused the greatest disappointment among the people ashore, who had collected to welcome His Majesty. The usual salutes were exchanged between the escorting German cruiser Prinz Friedrich Karl and the land batteries and the French warships Linois and Duchayla, now in these waters. The town presents a most picturesque spectacle. Flowers, rich Moorish embroideries, fine rugs and brilliant Eastern costumes everywhere make up a scene heretofore unknown in Tangier. Emperor William landed here at 11:45 a. m., having previously received a visit on board the Hamburg from the commander of the Duchayla. Emperor William, who was accompanied by a brilliant staff, rode on horseback through the densely crowded streets to the German Legation. Later the Emperor re-embarked on the Hamburg.

THIS YEAR'S MAINLAND POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—Off-year campaigns have been steadily growing less numerous. Most States have tired of too much politics and too frequent political contests. They prefer to elect their governors and executive officers, as well as members of Congress, which is every two years, on the even year, with an election of President and Vice-President also figuring in every alternate Congressional campaign. Iowa was one of the last States to change its biennial elections to conform to those for Congress.

However, the opinion that 1905 is to be an obscure one in political campaigns is not warranted. There are a few States which still adhere to the old idea that an annual campaign is indispensable for the maintenance of a perfect party organization, and next November several more or less important questions of party supremacy will be settled.

Two Southern States are entering upon campaigns this summer that will command very general attention. That applies particularly to Maryland, where a Legislature and minor State officers are to be chosen. Outside of the State, it will be of little significance whether the majority of the Legislature be Republican or Democratic, for the Legislature will not have the election of a Senator, but a constitutional amendment is to be voted upon, which will determine whether the ignorant colored vote is to be forever eliminated as a factor in State politics. The Democrats, now in control of the State, propose that Maryland shall follow the lead of other Southern States and confine the suffrage largely to white citizens. Virginia, North Carolina, and States farther South have emerged from most vigorous struggles, where that result has been satisfactorily accomplished.
